THE MURDER OF MARILYN MONROE: CASE CLOSED BY JAY MARGOLIS, RICHARD BUSKIN PDF

The New York Times Bestseller Accepted into The National Press Club Marilyn Monroe died under suspicious circumstances on the night of August 4, 1962. In The Murder of Marilyn Monroe: Case Closed, renowned MM expert Jay Margolis and New York Times best-selling author Richard Buskin finally lay to rest more than 50 years of wild speculation and misguided assertions by actually naming the screen goddess's killer. At the same time, they use the testimony of eyewitnesses to describe exactly what took place inside her house on Fifth Helena Drive in Los Angeles's Brentwood neighborhood. Implicating Bobby Kennedy in the commission of Monroe's murder, this is the first book to name the LAPD officers who accompanied the attorney general to her home, provide details about how the Kennedys used bribes to silence one of the ambulance drivers, and specify how the subsequent cover-up was aided by a noted pathologist's outrageous lies. This blockbuster volume blows the lid off the world's most notorious and talked-about celebrity death, and in the process also exposes the third gunman in the pantry who delivered the fatal bullet to the back of RFK's head - and the third gunman's female accomplice who, until now, has only been known to the LAPD and the FBI as "the girl in the polka-dot dress."

interesting information, very poorly written

By David S. Rosenblum

This is an interesting book that makes a very convincing case that Marilyn Monroe was murdered at the behest of Robert Kennedy (and as explained in a "bonus" chapter, that he himself was murdered by three gunmen, including at least one associated with prominent right-wing CIA people). It's just too bad the book is so poorly written.

There is very little narrative thread to this book, which instead reads like a random dump from a reporter's notebook. There are lots of repeated statements, statements presented without context, and random sequencing of information and claims.

A look at just the first two paragraphs of the whole book will give a great sense of the problem:

"In 1983, Peter Lawford discussed his friend Marilyn Monroe at length with biographer C. David Heymann for the latter's biography on Jackie Kennedy. Apparently, out of deep guilt (he had always held himself responsible for her death), Lawford conceded to having been part of a conspiracy to murder Marilyn Monroe, labeling himself a co-conspirator along with his brother-in-law Bobby Kennedy and Marilyn's psychiatrist, Dr. Ralph Greenson. The secret was kept all these years and the public was deceived into believing that Monroe's death was accidental.

"Natalie Trundy, Jacobs' twenty-one-year-old girlfriend at the time, told biographer Anthony Summers that shortly after 10:30 p.m., Arthur 'went to Marilyn's house, and I don't think I saw him for two days. He had to fudge the press.' Marilyn's close friend and former publicist, Rupert Allan, told biographers Harry Brown and Patte Barham, 'It was carefully done and beautifully executed ... It was decided to play up the "accidental death" scenario but none of us believed it.' "

OK, there's some really juicy stuff there, but these two paragraphs present three separate and seemingly unrelated partial accounts of circumstances surrounding Monroe's death. What is the relationship between these three accounts? Does it matter? Who is Natalie Trundy, and what is her significance to the story? And who the hell are "Jacobs" (no first name given) and "Arthur" (no last name given)? Are they one and the same person? Good luck trying to piece all of this stuff together into a coherent picture!

Say goodbye.....

By Colin Brown

Wow.....this book is packed with details and new information on what really happened on the last day of Marilyn's life. Shocking and sad. When will people stop saying she committed suicide ? Many people, including policemen at the scene, ambulance workers , her publicist Pat Newcomb, and Peter Lawford KNEW she was murdered. Most shocking of all is Marilyn's betrayal by the person she trusted the most.....her analyst Dr. Ralph Greenson. The biggest betrayal of them all.

Save Your Money...Poor Written and Closes Nothing

By Jason J. Simmers

I'm not sure what the people who gave this 5 stars were reading. I am guessing they are die hard's or something, because for me this book was a strain on my endurance. First of all the book is 169 pages, but remove all of the continuously repeated statements, it would end up being maybe 120 pages. Then add to this the name drops all over the book. It becomes so confusing that I literally found myself having to go back and forth just to remember who was who at times. Then there is the time line that jumps all over the place in this book and chapter titles that seem out of place. Then there are pictures referenced that are in the book and others referenced, important ones, not included in the book which leaves the reader asking why? For instance why is there a picture in the book of a smear on the wall, then the same without the smear, but at no time does the author address this in the book?

And then there is the "Case Closed" aspect of it. If anything this book leaves more questions than answers. It places a lot of weight behind two main witnesses, an ambulance driver and Lawford. First the ambulance driver, who refused to give his story without being paid, and paid on numerous occasions. Hell if I were getting $10,000 a pop to tell my story I'd jump at the chance also. The book references how many lie detector tests he took, but as we all know, lie detectors are not used in court because they are unreliable. Then there is Lawford, who gives his account later in his life and by this time he is a broken drunken wreck. Two witnesses any prosecutor worth his weight would not rely upon to make their case. Then there are the cops who come forward at about the same time people are banking on any Marilyn story. Again, true or false, no prosecutor would use them.

And thus is the gist of the story...NO CASE WAS EVER BROUGHT. None of this is new information as referenced in the book. Much of it goes back to the days after the event, 1972, and 1982, yet no LA DA has brought a case. Do I think there is evidence of murder? Sure. Does this book make a convincing case of RFK's involvement? Kind of at best, but with WAY TOO MANY HOLES. And at times the author's only rebuttal to witnesses that oppose the narrative are "There are obviously misunderstanding the evidence," or "They were close to the Kennedy family." Fair enough, but you need to provide more than that to "Close" a case.

Rarely have I said this, but I honestly regret making the investment in this book. It is just so poorly written and just doesn't lead anywhere convincing enough. It just comes across as hastily written and in need of a couple of rounds with the editor's pen. Save your money on this one is my only advice because less than half way in all you will be asking yourself is, "Why did I buy this."
